HSG moves up to fourth place in FT ranking

In their 2015 rankings of European business schools, The Financial Times recognizes the University of St. Gallen as one of the best in Europe

ST. GALLEN For the fourth consecutive year, the HSG has been recognized by The Financial Times (FT) as one of the best European business schools. Rising up to the fourth position, the HSG again has the distinction of being both the leading business university in Switzerland and in German-speaking Europe. The FT ranking evaluates 85 business schools and higher learning institutions.

Called “arguably one of the business school world’s best kept secrets” the HSG is well regarded for all measured programmes. The ranking brings together the individual results from the FT MBA (22nd in Europe), Executive MBA (20th in Europe), Executive Education (15th in Europe) and the Master in Management programme (SIM-HSG) which is ranked number one worldwide. The individual rankings themselves look at factors such as quality of faculty and average salary rates of graduates.

University of St.Gallen (HSG)

The University of St.Gallen (HSG) is the university of the Canton of St.Gallen and Switzerland’s leading business university. Internationality, practical relevance and an integrative focus have distinguished the HSG’s programmes since its inception in 1898. Today, more than 8,000 students from 88 countries are enrolled in business administration, economics, law, social sciences and international affairs. HSG is consistently recognised as one of Europe’s leading business schools. In 2014, it was ranked sixth in the Financial Times European Business School Ranking and in 2014 No. 1 in the world for the fourth straight year in its annual ranking of Masters programmes in Management for its Master’s programme in Strategy and International Management (SIM-HSG). The university is internationally recognised for excellence for its integrative education on the highest academic level with EQUIS and AACSB accreditation. Degrees are offered on the Bachelor’s, Master’s and Ph.D. levels. In addition, the HSG offers first-rate, comprehensive executive education programmes for approx. 5,000 participants annually. Primarily self-supporting and autonomously organised, the institutes remain closely connected to the university system.
